ROAMER MAINTAINS ! SPEED SUPREMACY

Champion Wins Pierrepont Handicap at Jamaica in Very Fast Time.

Herz's Horse, Rank Outsider, Runs Best Race of Year, Nearly Winning.

Roamer, the little old bay gelding whose speed and courage have earned him the undisputed title of "King of the Turf." won the Pierrepont Handicap, the feature event of the programme at the Jamaica track yesterday afternoon.

The old fellow ran a great race, and

Other expert horsemen disagreed with them. They praised the champion for his great courage in holding his own with the Hers horse, which was carrying the featherlike weight of 103 pounds. Manister Toi's race was the best of his coreer. It was pounds better than he showed in his last race and caused a host of racegoers to proclaim it the worst reversal of the year.

A few minutes before the first race Lieut. T. J. T. Bibb, Jr., came sweeping down over the track in an airplane. He rite at 1 to 2, while War Cloud was a decided second choice.

When it came to racing Manister Tolout a big figure. Mare Cassidy sent the trio away on even terms, but before a sixteenth of a mile had been covered Manister Tol was speeding along in front at a terrific pace. In the first half mile he cpened up a gap of half a dozen lengths on his opponents. Near the end of the backstretch Rcamer, which had been running in second place, made a hid for the lead. In a (ew jumps he cut down the distance separating him from the leader to two lengths.

But Manister Tol hal an abunfance of speed and continued to sa'l along at a diazy pace. So fast was it that Roamer's mightiest efforts gained him only small margins at a time. But the old champion was full of fight and kept on his job. As a result he gradually made up the lost ground, and entering the homestretch was at Manister Tol's saddle girths.

From then to the eighth pole the pair struggled without either gaining an inch. But just as the crowd was shouting "Roamer is beaten!" Schuttinger gave "Roamer is beaten!" Schuttinger gave the champion three powerful cracks of the whip. They caused the courageous victor of more than 100 gruelling battles to spring forward and take the lead. He stuck his nose in front, but that was the best he could do.

Manister Toi would not quit. He was still call of running and for Roamer to War Cloud Under a Pull.

During the early part of the race War Cloud was under restraint, but when "let down" a 'quarter of a mile from home he made only a feeble challenge and then quit and it was only a most vigorous finish by Loftus that kept him near the leaders.

Loftus put up another one of his reat rides in the Liberty Bond Handicap on A. K. Macomber's Hollister. Slow to catch his stride, Hollister was half a dozen lengths out of the race and apparently badly beaten when the short home stretch was reached.

But Loftus didn't think so. He knew the colt's ability and went in search of the shortest route home. After mancethe shortest route home. After mane vring around for an instant or two saw a small opening near the rail. In it he dashed his mount. It saved his several lengths and brought him with striking distance of Ima Frank and Hig

At the final eighth pole Hollist med up as a serious contender. The noted jockey was working on him wi whip, heels and hand. Inch by inch i gained ground and twenty jumps fro judges was on even terms with the der. Then Loftus sat down and po up a vigorous hand ride. Carroll's Second Winner of Day Jerry Carroll, her trainer, was confi-dent the mare would win and imparted this information to all who visited the paddock except a few professional bet-tors. The Liberty Loan drive at the Ja-

Jamaica track yesterday afternoon.

The old fellow ran a great race, and in a hurricane finish passed the judges a neck in front of Emil Hera's Manister Tol, which was an added starter. A. K. Macomber's War Cloud was the only other contestant. He finished third, a length behind Manister Tol.

The champion carried 127 pounds and stepped over the one mile and a furlong course against a strong wind in the exceptionally fast time of 1:523-5. This is only three-fifths of a second behind the track record hung up by Richard T. Wilson Jr.'s Tartar in 1915. When Tartar established the record he carried only 95 pounds. Twitson Jr.'s Tartar in 1915. When Tartar established the record he carried only 98 pounds.

Although Roamer's race was considered little short of phenomenal by a vast majority of the crowd present, it did not suit Andrew Miller, his owner, nor Jack Goldsborough, his trainer. Both agreed that the old fellow had given up everything and each was jublant over the victory, but both were of the opinion that he should have won by a larger margin.

Other expert horsemen disagreed with them. They praised the champion for by the racegoers to do their bit.

Manister Tol Wakes Up.

George Smith, the big black horse belonging to John Sanford, and Richard T. Wilson Jr.'s Corn Tassel were named to start, but were withdrawn early in the afternoon. With them out Herz added Manister Tol. To the crowd he was considered to have little or no chance.

Roamer was an overwhelming favorite at 1 to 2, while War Cloud was a decided second choice.
